Dear Bro. Hyndman:

First of all I apologize for writing in longhand, and to "add insult to injury," my injured right wrist is not helping my penmanship at all. I am asking you for your indulgence.

It was good to talk with you over the phone. I really appreciate your labor of love among our Cambodian people for almost a decade now, especially your personal interest to Sok Ew and his family with whom I have a special relationship. I count it my privilege to consider as my brother in the Lord and in the ministry. I have been, am, and will be doing everything in my power as the Lord graciously enables ~~me~~ to help him in the ministry the Lord has given him.

Regarding Emmanuel Bible School, Bro. Sok Ew will discuss with you in detail. As mentioned over the phone I am sending the original draft of the curriculum that was drawn for a proposed Bible School I had in mind. I submitted this curriculum ~~to~~ my immediate supervisors and coworkers in the draft, but it was not discussed at all, and I had given up on it, I mean in my denomination. Please do not lose this draft, because I may not have a copy somewhere else.

I will try to write again, because I cannot write too long at this time. God bless you and your family.

Sincerely,
Dara Pen
